

Notice: The 17th ICMSEM is scheduled to be held online

The 17th International Conference on Management Science and Engineering Management (2023ICMSEM) was originally scheduled to be held in South Africa from August 3 to August 4, 2023. It is the annual conference organized and supported by the International Society of Management Science and Engineering Management (ISMSEM), Sichuan University, University of Cape Town. It is our priority to enable more participants to attend the conference and achieve international academic exchange. After studying and evaluating the 2023 conference schedule and follow-up process, along with guidance from the ISMSEM leadership, 2023 ICMSEM will continue as scheduled from August 3 to August 4, 2023, by being converted to the virtual (online) conference, and will not take place physically in South Africa. The publication and retrieval of the proceedings can still will follow the normal procedures (and not be affected by the conference format).

Author Presentations: Authors of all 2023 ICMSEM accepted papers are required to present their work through the online platform. Please prepare slides for the presentation, and we will issue the requirements to the corresponding author by approximately May 10.

Following Arrangements:

1. The attended table are expected to be transmitted to the corresponding authors in two rounds, the first round is scheduled for May 10 and the second round for May 20 to confirm your participation.
2. The conference calendar, presentation instructions, remote software, conference links, pamphlet etc. will be sent to participants before July 20.

We hope you all stay safe and well, and look forward to working with you all to put on an exciting virtual ICMSEM!

With Best Regards,
